WITH ALLIED ARMIES IN ITALY, Sept. 19 — (Delayed) — (NS) — Two men who many years ago tried to assassinate Benito Mussolini and were condemned to life imprisonment have been released by Allied authorities from the notorious Italian penal island.

But one of them, by ghastly mischance, was killed by a German shell just seven days after he had been at liberty for the first time in 16 years.

The unfortunate victim, the less well-known of the two, was an anarchist named Iacetti who in the early years of the Fascist regime threw a bomb at Il Duce but missed.

At that time there was no death penalty in Italy—Mussolini did not introduce capital punishment until the latter part of his career.

During the first 10 years of Fascism about 12 attempts on Mussolini's life were made, and all the would-be assassins were
