

Frank Sinatra Sings For Fourth War Loan Drive

Frank Sinatra will present his Wednesday night show on behalf of the Fourth War Loan Drive, at 7 p. m., EST, over WABC. Ann Sheridan will be the visiting guest star on the broadcast which will emanate from the Shrine Auditorium in Los Angeles.

With Jeanne Cagney, pretty sister of Jimmy and a well-known actress in her own right, heading the women's team, Jay C. Flippen will have a contestant gifted with some smart repartee of her own on the "Battle of the Sexes" broadcast over WJZ Wednesday at 7:30 p. m., EST.

Adding a south-of-the-border touch to the observance of Victor Herbert Week, Xavier Cugat and his orchestra play "A Kiss in the Dark" on "Your Dubonnet Date," on Wednesday at 7:30 p. m., over Station WOR. Lina Romay's solo is "I Said No, He Said Yes," Don Rodney sings "If You Please," and Del Campo's selection is "Ero." The orchestra and chorus are featured in "Mama Inez," "Besame Mucho" and "One, Two, Three, Kick."

Kay Kyser takes his "College of Musical Knowledge" crew to the Navy Air Base at Los Alamitos, Calif., for the broadcast on Wednesday, at 9 p. m., over Station WEAF. Georgia Cartoll, Harry Babbitt, Ish Kabibb's, Sully

Mason and the rest of the gang will be on hand to entertain and quiz the flying sailors.

"Mr. District Attorney" attends a concert and encounters a sour note in the form of a murder, in "The Case of the Concerto of Death" on Wednesday at 8:30 p. m., over Station WEAF. It's one of those eerie whodunits, in which the finger of suspicion swings erratically before coming to rest. Jay Jostyn, Cicki Vola and Len Doyle play the starring roles, and Peter Van Steeden conducts the music.
