

Fanny Brice Is Scheduled To Return Thursday Night

After a two-week bout with laryngitis, Fanny Brice is expected to return to the airwaves with her inimitable creation of the precocious Baby Snooks Thursday over WEAJ at 7 p. m., EST.

Nelson A. Rockefeller, Coordinator of Inter-American Affairs, will appear on the March of Time, Thursday, to discuss the need of greater Pan American unity. Rockefeller will also reveal the aid Latin America is contributing to the Allied war effort. The program goes on the air at 9.30 p. m., EST over WEAJ. With Westbrook Van Voorhis as commentator, the March of Time also will present authoritative, first hand reports on news of the past week and the last minute from the home front and the war fronts.

Bob Hope joins up with Ring Crosby to build another road to insanity when the ski-nosed comedian and the groaner get together for a typical reunion Thursday, over WEAJ at 8 p. m., EST.

Orson Welles will be heard as not just one magician, but a pair of them, in Ben Hecht's "The Marvelous Barastro," on "Suspense" on Thursday at 7 p. m., over Station WABC. One of the magicians has a blind wife, who so attracts the other illusionist that he learns to impersonate the husband to deceive the woman. When the husband learns of the trick, he takes appropriate steps. William Spier, producer of the "Suspense" series, makes his microphone debut as an actor in this story, appearing, coincidentally enough, as Producer Spier.
