Liberty Ship Named for E. A. Filene

The founder of the credit union movement, the late Edward A. Filene, was honored recently when a Liberty ship bearing his name was launched at Jacksonville, Fla.

Mr. Filene was first president of the Credit Union National Assn. (CUNA) when it came to Madison in 1935. With the destruction of the credit union movement in Europe, brought about by the war, Madison has become the world headquarters of the credit union movement.

From May 9 to 14, Madison will be host to the annual meetings of CUNA, Cuna Supply cooperative, Cuna Mutual Insurance society, and the National Association of League Managing Directors.
