

Fred Waring Will Occupy Ellery Queen's Armchair

Fred Waring will be Ellery Queen's guest armchair detective for an exciting, surprising radio murder mystery, "The Adventure of the Dead Man's Bones." Saturday, at 7.30 p. m., EWT, over WEA-F.

A top-notch musical showman for 26 years, who begins his own new radio program Sept. 7 over WJZ, Waring will listen to a detective yarn, which begins as a nice week-end in the country and turns into sheer terror. Then the celebrated orchestra leader will try to figure out how an ancient pair of dice, "the dead man's bones," solve the crime.

Raymond Edward Johnson, known to millions of Inner Sanctum fans as Raymond Your Host of the Squeaking Door, will ghost-guest on the Barry Wood-Patsy

Kelly show Saturday over WEA-F at 10 p. m., EWT.

How the British-Americans have contributed to the American way of life is unfolded on "They call Me Joe" Saturday (WEA-F, 7 p. m., EWT).

The story is told thru the eyes of an American nurse caring for wounded soldiers being brought home to America from the Normandy beachhead. It flashes back to the nurse's ancestors, who suffered religious persecution in England, fled their native land for Holland and later departed from there to settle in America. How the Pilgrims and founding fathers established the democratic principles we now follow is told in this chapter of "They Call Me Joe."
