

"Voyage Thru Darkness" Is "Suspense" Thriller

Olivia de Havilland and Reginald Gardner, both of the screen, join in a "Suspense" super-thriller Joel Malone's "Voyage Thru Darkness," in the broadcast over Station WABC Thursday at 7 p. m. EST. The unusual story deals with an American girl, returning by boat from England with the body of her murdered employer aboard. On the way, she meets a strange, furtive person, who she suspects is the killer. His true identity is established, and none too soon, in a surprising climax.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, Republican presidential candidate, will be heard in three major campaign addresses over WEA F during his cross-country tour in September. His first talk will come from Convention Hall, Philadelphia, Thursday (WEAF, 9-9:30 p. m., EST).

Two songs from the newest GI revue, "Three Day Pass," never before broadcast, will be heard on the "March of Time" Thursday (WEAF, 9:30 p. m. EST), following the series' custom of presenting the newest war songs as news.

"Three Day Pass," the musical's theme song, its music by Oscar Hammerstein and lyrics by George W. Meyer, and "Around This Neck of the Woods," music by Fred Ahlert, lyrics by Al Stillman, will be given this first airing by the "March of Time" chorus and orchestra under the direction of Don Vorhees.
