

Quentin Reynolds To Pay Sinatra Visit Wednesday

Quentin Reynolds, famed war correspondent, will cover the Frank Sinatra show when he pays a visit as guest of "The Voice" Wednesday at 8 p. m., Lima time, over WABC. Eileen Barton and Axel Stordahl's orchestra are program regulars on the half-hour show.

There will be mutual ground for the two friends because back in New Jersey, Sinatra spent part of his early career as sports writer for the Jersey Observer. When Quentin

Reynolds began his newspaper career with the Brooklyn Times and the old New York Evening World sports reporting was one of his many assignments.

"Mr and Mrs North" arrive home just in time to see a van moving down the street, taking away their furniture, and "The Norths Get a Move On," into another laugh and thrill packed adventure, over Station WEAJ, Wednesday at 7 p. m. Their search for the house furnishings leads them into many strange places, and it is not until all but one piece of furniture has been located that the reason for the wholesale theft becomes apparent. Then, the corpses begin appearing, and the Norths find themselves knee-deep in a murder mystery. Joseph Curtin and Alice Frost star as "Mr. and Mrs. North."

The Ole Professor, Kay Kyser, has the situation well in hand when he takes his "College of Musical Knowledge" gang to the Marine Base at Camp Pendleton (San Diego, Calif.) at 8 p. m., over Station WEAJ. Georgia Carrol, Ish Kabibble and Sully Mason are the featured singers.

Disregarding war damage, the steel capacity of the principal steel manufacturing countries of the world stood at 207.4 million