

Blondie Obtains A Rembrandt, Causing Very Hectic Episode

Blondie bids $20 for a painting, at an auction, and then discovers that it is a Rembrandt, and the Bumsteads are off on another round of madcap adventure when "Blondie Acquires a Treasure" in the comedy-drama broadcast over Station WABC, Sunday at 8 p. m.. When people begin to flock to the Bumstead home to look at the art treasure, Dagwood and Blondie decide (individually) that they need new furniture, and go shopping (individually) for it. They end up with furniture overflowing into the backyard . . . at just about the same time that the auctioneer arrives with upsetting news. Penny Singleton and Arthur Lake star as Blondie and Dagwood.

"Nick Carter — Master Detective" sets out to solve a murder but branches out to solve a disappearance in "The Case of the Vanishing Killer" on the mystery broadcast over Station WOR Sunday, at 5:30 p. m. With the aid of Patsy, his sleuthing sidekick, Nick travels a danger-strewn path to the solution. Lon Clark stars as Carter.

Music, mirth, and madness ride the air waves when Cass Daley, zany singing star of the current film "Out of This World," appears as Jerry's guest on the "Jerry Wayne Show" Sunday at 8:30 p. m. over WJZ.

A dramatic fantasy, "Studying in Triangles," starring master-of-ceremonies Conrad Nagel, will be the second in the series of dramatic presentations to be heard on the summer "Silver Theatre" on
