

Alan Young In Close Second In His Race For Romance

Alan (Handicap) Young redoubles his efforts to garner a blue ribbon in the race for Betty Dittenfeffer's affections during the Alan Young Show to be heard at 8:30 p. m. Tuesday over WABC.

Alan gains on his wealthy opponent, Hubert Updike, III, but he finds it virtually impossible to get around Betty's father whose post-war plans include a rich son-in-law. However, never-say-die Young does succeed in providing plenty of laughs as he makes plans for the next heat.

Irene Wicker, famed radio actress and singer, joins the "Inner Sanctum" mystery as guest ghoul to play a woman whose claustrophobia drives her to arson, murder and insanity in "The Creeping Wall" to be heard at 9 p. m. Tuesday over CBS.

Your Host Paul McGrath's creaking door opens on a fearful story of a once beautiful woman, obsessed with hatred of the woman in a portrait who remains forever beautiful. Her fear that walls are closing in on her and her determination to murder the painted lady lead to a real murder and an unforeseen climax.

Ella Logan, the "Loch Lomond" lass will be the visiting song-stress with Bob Crosby on his new show to be heard at 10 p. m. Tuesday over CBS.

Michael Chekhov, internationally known actor, stars in a story by an equally famous author, Ben Hecht, in the "This Is My Best" offering, "Pink Hussar," at 9:30 p. m. Tuesday over CBS.
