

Joseph Cotten Has Star Role Of 'Suspense' on Thursday

"The Pasteboard Box" will be the starring vehicle for Joseph Cotten, motion picture luminary, when he appears on "Suspense," radio's theatre of thrills, in its broadcast at 8 p. m. Thursday over CBS.

Bud Abbott and Lou Costello spend some time at the track, when Costello enters his horse, Girdle, in a race at Santa Anita, and Girdle fails in the back stretch and the home stretch to make it a two-way stretch in the comedy broadcast at 10 p. m. Thursday over NBC.

Fay McKenzie, film musical comedy star, will join Frank Morgan's "Music Hall" at 9 p. m. Thursday over NBC. Eddy Duchin, the Charioteers and John Scott Trotter's orchestra feature on the half-hour.

After spending considerable time in her young career with stock companies, Miss McKenzie won Hollywood's attention for her performance in "Meet the People."

Popular southern thrush Dinah Shore welcomes pride of New England, Rudy Vallee to "Dinah Shore's Open House" to be heard at 8:30 p. m. Thursday over NBC.

With a few duets and a bit of finesse, the twosome prove to each other's satisfaction that the Civil war is really over, but not until a lot of verbal battles are fought and won by both sides.

Radio Guide

THURSDAY, JAN. 17