get on the trail of a masked bandit in their comedy broadcast at 10 p. m. Thursday over NBC. Their adventures as sleuths are given musical interpolations by Amy Arnell singing "Put That Ring on My Finger."

"Special Added Attraction"—in this case murder under the "big top"—is the title of Dick Powell's Rogue's Gallery broadcast at 8:30 p. m. Thursday over MBS.

The plot revolves about Yvonne O'Rourke, world's premiere serialist who has received a letter threatening her life. This sends Pop Price, the circus manager to seek the help of private eye Richard Rogue, played by Powell.

An antedated, antiquated comic valentine in the person of Groucho Marx arrives at "Dinah Shore's Open House" at 8:30 p. m. Thursday over NBC.

Groucho believes all he's been taught about punctuality and hopes that arriving two weeks ahead of Valentine's Day will cinch him as Dinah's No. 1 caller. In accents sweet and southern Dinah says time alone will tell.

George Coulouris will be heard as a touring English gambler in "The Long Shot," an M. H. Swanton "Suspense" story to be heard at 8 p. m. Thursday over CBS. The story revolves around a down-at-the-heel English gambler who meets another Englishman, and becomes his companion on an automobile tour from the east coast to California. En route, he becomes suspicious of his new-found friend, who, he believes, intends to murder him. His efforts to identify his companion, and to avoid being killed, lead to a surprising climax.

SUICIDE CHANGES MIND

WINNIPEG, Jan. 31—(UP) —

William Duchak, 47, was recovering in a hospital today after changing his mind in a suicide attempt. Authorities said Duchak, a bachelor, inflicted a three-inch incision in his abdomen, was struck with indecision, sat down, threaded a needle and sewed up the cut. His landlord found him and rushed him to a hospital.
