

'Moby Dick' To Be D On 'Harvest of St

Raymond Massey plays the hard, hateful Captain Ahab in Melville's American classic, "Moby Dick," as the story furls its flags to honor the men who went down in 1842. 2 p. m. Sunday over NBC.

In tribute to the men who sailed clipper ships around the world out of New Bedford, Boston, New York and other salty New England ports, Igor Gorin, Metropolitan Opera tenor, will sing "Blow the Man Down," and Huhn's "Invictus."

Baby Snooks goes all out for exemplary deportment under pressure when Daddy Higgins learns that Snooks' rich uncle will visit their home during "The Baby Snooks Show" starring Fanny Brice, at 6:30 p. m. Sunday over CBS.

Daddy's boss is in dire need of a loan which Daddy hopes to wheedle from the uncle with the gold mine. Naturally, Snooks' father thinks that such a move will set him in solid with the boss thus insuring a promotion and a desk of executive magnitude.

It will be little Maggie O'Brien wearing the shamrock to Charlie McCarthy's party on St. Patrick's Day at 8 p. m. Sunday over NBC.

Margaret has become a special holiday visitor with Charlie. She dropped by to visit with him on Thanksgiving, and again to fill his stocking at Christmas time. Charlie says she's very cute and for a 7-year-old, she carries her age very well.

Ozzie Nelson becomes a sitter for all the neighborhood children during "The Adventures of Ozzie and Harriet," heard at 6 p. m. Sunday over CBS.

Ozzie finds himself in this dire predicament because all the males in the neighborhood have golf dates, while Harriet and her girl friends go off to a St. Patrick's Day party.
