

Danny Kaye To Be Presented On 'Radio Theatre' Monday

Danny Kaye and Virginia Mayo will recreate for Radio theatre their cinema comedy-hit, "Wonder Man" at 9 p. m. Monday over CBS.

Kay plays a dual role, as twins, one being a clownish night club performer; the other a mild-mannered, studious type. Complications set in when the performer twin is a victim of gangster killing for knowing too much inside information.

Vox Pop will broadcast a program around one man — former Army Sgt. William M. Hughes, Philadelphia, first blinded veteran in the nation to obtain a GI loan and open a retail business.

Parks Johnson and Warren Hull will interview Hughes, his wife, Helen, and customers of their gift shop at 8 p. m. Monday over CBS in the ballroom of a Philadelphia hotel.

Two of the better crop of mid-dleweights will slug it out when Sammy Secrete trades leather with Irish Billy Walker in a 10-round encounter at 10:15 p. m. Monday in the Cleveland Arena. The MBS network will carry a broadcast of the match.

• Listeners continue to get an earful of queries and comedy and convalescing GIs get cigarets on the "Bob Hawk Show" heard at 7:30 p. m. Monday over CBS.

Joan Davis' tea room gets out of bounds when the Queen of Comedy goes south of the border to import a rhumba band and singer for her establishment during the "Joan Davis Show" to be broadcast at 8:30 p. m. Monday over CBS.
