

Abbott, Costello Going To Wedding on Thursday

Trouble, in the form of a formal afternoon suit, dogs the footsteps of Bud Abbott and Lou Costello, when they receive an invitation to a wedding in their comedy broadcast at 10 p. m. Thursday over NBC.

Brian Donlevy of the films portrays a blind detective, who becomes involved with murder and blackmail at a fashionable resort in "Out of Control," the "Suspense" offering at 8 p. m. Thursday over CBS.

Frank Morgan, frequent friend with Bing Crosby on the Music Hall makes an appearance at 9 p. m. Thursday over NBC. The Morgan myths have been giving the groaner no end to headaches. First "Frankie Boy" tried to pass himself off as Bing's son, then a lawyer, and later a champion in the manly art of fisticuffs. Crosby will dedicate his first number to Morgan, the man of many careers.

The "Amour, Amour, Amour" boy and the "Blues in the Night" girl blend their tones in a dulcet duet when Andy Russell is Dinah Shore's special guest on "Dinah Shore's Open House" at 8:30 p. m. Thursday over NBC.

Andy actually calls on Dinah to find out what happened when his erstwhile girl-friend of radio, Joan Davis, visited the "Open House" last week.

George Burns and Gracie Allen improve on all the old tricks of cupid during the broadcast at 8 p. m. Thursday over NBC.
