

John Garfield Has Top Role In 'Hollywood Players' Show

John Garfield, who in Horatio Alger fashion rose from a childhood of poverty in New York's squalid lower East Side to become a front-rank screen actor, will be the star in the second "Hollywood Player's" program at 8:30 p. m. Tuesday over CBS.

Garfield has chosen as his radio vehicle "The Fallen Sparrow," a brooding but exciting story of mystery and romance involving a young man who has just returned from war-torn Europe in which he made a great success on the screen.

Continuing his musical salutes to present-day American composers of popular music, Fred Waring will devote the entire broadcast at 8:30 p. m. Tuesday over NBC to the compositions of Irving Berlin. This program will coincide with the New York premiere of the new movie, "Blue Skies," which will feature some of the best-loved tunes which Berlin has written during his long and colorful career as a composer of Tin Pan Alley.

Juvenile winners of the first American junior championship races for beetle catboats will be among the sailboat-minded interviewees when Parks Johnson and Warren Hull visit the Rhode Island Country club at Barrington on Narragansett Bay for their Vox Pop broadcast at 8 p. m. Tuesday over the full CBS network.

Red Skelton returns to the airwaves at 9:30 p. m. Tuesday with a new comedy show certain to top anything he's had in the past. New jokes and more fun are to be found hand in hand on his new
