Prices Drop

Producers Doubt Decline Here

The price of milk dropped 1 cent per quart today in Chicago— 19.30-19.75 19.25-19.35 the second such drop this month 19.00-19.25 —but producers and distributors in Madison doubted that the downward trend would be foldownward trend would be lowed immediately in this city. "Apparently the spread be-tween the price paid for milk to the producer and the price 5 charged the housewife was too great," a spokesman for the Madison Milk Producers Cooperative said today. "At any rate, it appears that the 2-cent drop in the price of Sports milk to the consumer must have been taken from the too-great spread. The price of milk to the producer hasn't gone down the $1 a hundred it would have to drop if the decreased price were to result from lower prices to the producer."

He pointed out that milk delivered to the home in Chicago reached a top during the last three months of 1946 of 22½ cents as compared with a Madi-

The teachers declared that they were leaving their jobs because the dismissal of Ulrich had proved that their unployment at the school was "unstable." They also objected to a board order reducing schedule of the school band leader from five days a week to five days every two weeks.

The teachers demanded correction of "hazardos" building conditions at the school, claiming that hall and stairways were narrow and unlighted.

They dismissed their classes Wednesday morning and it was not known immediately whether the pupils were merely obeying them when they left the school or were walking out in sympathy with them.

Pilots Defend Selves
Air safety hearings continued before the commerce committees of both the house and senate. Meanwhile, several airline pilots who wish to remain unidentified struck back at those who claim that so-called pilot error is the main cause of recent air crashes. The pilots said part of the fault lay with federal aviation agencies for not providing the new landing aids that are available but in use. W. A. Patterson, president of United Airlines, proposed that war-tested safety devices, includ-
