Bob Hope to Help Cancer Society

By EDITH GWYNN

HOLLYWOOD — Bob Hope, who has only lent himself to about 39485768493 drives, etc., this year, kicks of another on Mar. 30, when he plugs for the American Cancer society.

Morgan Conway was upset when itemed elsewhere as being in the company of a star whose after-dark drinking bouts disgrace the whole town regularly. Conway is a happily married man, never smokes or drinks on the screen because of his kid following, and never visits bars.

Jayne Meadows, now playing with Tyrone Power in "Leave it to the Irish" (formerly called "For Fear of Little Men" has been signed to a long contract by Sam Goldwyn and goes into his "Take Three Tenses", which is set to star David Niven.

Beverly Tyler and David May, Ann Rutherford's estranged mate, have been making the spots.

That proposed life-story of Eddie Cantor which Warners was supposed to make has been tabled.

Louis Hayward, who just finished starring in "Ruthless," is the latest to form his own production company. He and Edgar Ulmer will make three this year, their company being called Film Artists.

They made Bing Crosby honorary mayor of Elko, Nev., a few weeks ago, and now Reno, Nev., is about to install his brother, Bob, as mayor and police commissioner. Bob says if Bing tries to come to Reno, he'll make him register as an "enemy alien".
