When Lee Chrisman comes to Madison to be conductor of the 1948 All-State band, he'll be on familiar ground. For when Chrisman was a high school pupil he came here from Hobart, Ind., to be a member of the 1934 All-State organization.

Now he's chairman of the music department at the San Francisco State Teachers college. When Chrisman finished high school, he went to the University of Michigan and, upon graduation, became assistant to William Revelli, bandmaster at Hobart. When Revelli went to Michigan, Chrisman went with him. During World War II, Chrisman served as band leader with the army air forces. Upon discharge, he went to the San Francisco post.

WARNING: Fred Waring and his orchestra will do a round of one-night stands from Oct. 30 to Dec. 10. . . Don't be surprised if the concert tour includes Madison. . . One of the theaters is reported angling for Guy Lombardo, too.

DISCS OF THE DAY: On the popular side . . .

 Louis Prima: "I Feel So Smoochie," and "Betty Blue," vocals by Louis and chorus. . . "Must" for Prima fans. Others will probably like "Betty Blue," too.

 Three Suns (Victor): "A Boy from Texas" and "I'm in Love — Can't You Tell?," vocals by Artie Dunn and Sun Maids. . . Let's just stop and admit this reviewer is a Three-Suns fan.

* Frank Sinatra (Columbia): "A Fella With an Umbrella" and "It Only Happens When I Dance With You," with Axel Stordahl's orchestra. . . Is this relaxation or fatigue?

 Dell Trio (Columbia): "Betty Blue," vocal by Jerry Wayne, and "Sunday Picnic Polka" . . . This outfit can do better, but Wayne's voice lifts it to two stars.

 Harry James (Columbia): "Carnival of Venice" and "Trumpet Blues" . . . Reissues of a couple of James' top discs.  Frank Sinatra (Columbia): "Nature Boy" and "S'posin'" . . . Frankie's back in form for this pair.

* Freddy Martin (Victor): "A Little Street Where Old Friends Meet," vocal by Stuart Wade and Martin Men, and "On the Little village Green," vocal by Clyde Rogers and ensemble. . . Nostalgic sweetness.

Orpheum

FEATURE: Emperor Waltz.

TYPE: Musical comedy

CAST: Bing Crosby, Joan Fontaine Lucile Watson, Richard Culver.

REVIEWER: Helen Matheson

STORY: A brash American salesman from Newark, N. J., goes to Austria to sell one of his new-fangled phonograph machines to Emperor Francis Joseph. He is escorted by his product's living trademark, a little black-and-white dog. The dog quickly arrives at an understanding with a French poodle that belongs to a haughty duchess. . . you take it from there.

HIGH POINTS: The whole air of rather aimless foolishness. . . Crosby's effortless comedy. . . handsome Technicolor. . . a charming, wholly irrelevant miniature ballet tucked unexpectedly in the middle of the picture. . . the superb, soaring beauty of Canada's Jasper national park, photographed to pinch-hit for the Tyrol (the presence in the park of an internationally famous golf course and in the case of Crosby presumably is wholly coincidental. . . but Bing won the course championship last summer a few weeks after the picture was finished).

LOW POINTS: Thin plot. . . tasteless situations. . . unusually trite musical background. . . Miss Fontaine taking the whole thing with grim seriousness.

VERDICT: Lovely to look at. . . mildly amusing.
