Hollywood

By Edith Gwynn

As soon as "Impact" is in the bag, Ella Raines takes off for London to make a picture for J. Arthur Rank.

Jimmy Stewart, the Gary Coopers, Rosalind Russell, Claudette Colbert, and the Ray Millands already have reservations to do their Christmas skiing at Sun Valley, Ida.

M'liss McClure, whose claim to fame so far has been getting publicized as Mickey Rooney's date, is about to land the femme lead in "White Fury," which Eagle Lion will release. It's a story of the Laplanders, and producer Edward Finney will take most of his company there to shoot the film on native soil.

Eight-year-old Jimmie Hunt gets a plum role in "Top o' the Morning" with Bing Crosby. And Hume Cronyn, the deep-dyed heavy of so many movies, will also be one of the toppers in the cast. After that, Cronyn goes on an eight-week tour of the country playing "Hamlet". Now—THERE'S a switch! By the way, special footage made of the original Blarney Stone in Ireland will be in "Top o' the Morning"—it's already been sent here from overseas. This yarn has a very funny premise. It's all about the supposed stealing of the Blarney Stone—and Bing plays an American investigator who goes over to find out who got away with it.

Sight of the week: Janis Paige diving head first into a barrel of flour for a comedy scene in "The House Across the Street."

Phil Moore, whose musical talents we've raved about, signed a seven-year deal for Mills Music to publish his stuff. They hope to continue in the old Duke Ellington tradition—and that should be good enough for anyone.

"Scandal," Collier Young's first production at Columbia, goes before the cameras in January. Young, who is blissfully wed to Ida Lupino, will have Evelyn Keyes (she'll be back from Europe by then), John Derek, who was discovered by Humphrey Bogart, and Jerome Courtland in his cast.

If David Selznick puts over a plan on the fire now, you'll soon be hearing Shirley Temple and her good-looking husband, John Agar, as a radio team in a series based on "What Every Bride Should Know", their next picture. This picture will be made by Jack Wrather, spouse of Bonita Granville.

Love has come to Gloria Swanson again. He's a Britisher about 30 years old.

Claude Jarman, who scored in "The Yearling," is back to start his next important role in William Faulkner's "the Intruders". Director Clarence Brown thinks this is an even better acting opportunity than the lad had before.

Virginia Grey, beautiful ex-companion of Clark Gable, and Dick Quine, ex-groom of Susan Peters, are very happy together. And it couldn't happen to two nicer people.

The romance of Marion Hutton, currently in the divorce mill, and a very important movie exec, is sending the Palm Springs temperature higher than usual.

(WIBA): Juano Hernandez as Booker T. Washington in "The Burning Bush" . . . Inner Sanctum (WBBM): young intern risks life to disprove "prophet's" claims.

8 p. m. — Radio Theater (WBBM): John Garfield, Jane Wyman in "Body and Soul."

9:30 p. m. — Radio City Playhouse (WMAQ): "The First and the Last," by John Galsworthy.

Tuesdaytime

9 a. m.—Fred Waring (WIBA): music from "Oklahoma!"

9:30 a. m. — Let's Find Out (WHA): "Priscilla's Secret."

10 a. m.—Homemakers (WHA): "For Christmas Making," Mrs. Henry Meidell; "Questions in the Mail," Edith Bangham.

11 a. m. — Freshman Forum (WHA): "Minorities in America," T. C. McCormick.

11:15 a. m.—Council of Church Women (WIBA): Bishop J. E. Oxnam of Methodist church on "Thy Kingdom Come" . . . It's Your Life. (WMAQ): "Delinquency."

12:30 p. m. — Farm Program (WHA): "Chores in the Berry Patch and Young Orchards," C. L. Kuehner; "Prepare Walnuts Now for Spring Planting," R. W. Abbott.

5:45 p. m. — Sports Parade (WIBA): Lou Landman interviews Coach Earl Wilke of Edgewood on basketball prospects.
