Jane Wyman's next opus—well, anyway a scheduled opus—will be "Man Running," which Alfred Hitchcock will direct. Whether it will be filmed before "Career Girl," supposedly set for a spring start, we dunno. "Man Running" will be made in England, even though its original locale was Canada.

No matter what plans you may have read of regarding Joan Fontaine and spouse, Bill Dozier, the thing they're concentrating on at the moment is a way to use up those well known "frozen" funds in foreign countries. One "foreign country" these two have funds in is Hawaii—and is that a bad place to go to spend money? We're only kidding, in a sense—but seriously, these two are thinking about producing their next, "A Very Remarkable Fellow" on Honolulu soil. They're maaaaad about the place. So instead of going to Mexico, or Italy, etc., where shekels from their "You Gotta Stay Happy" are piling up, they may take a Hollywood cast and crew to the Hawaiian islands to film this one, which at the moment is next on their joint producing schedule.

James Gleason, whose swellegant character-acting we haven't heard of for at least five minutes, has just signed for a featured role with "Take One False Step" with Bill Powell and Shelley Winters.

Boyoboy! You should hear about the scene-stealing that's going on over at 20th-Fox on the sets of "Come to the Stable". Loretta Young and Celeste Holm are the stars of this one, but Elsa Lanchester, playing a colorful role in it, it nabbing the spotlight (and the camera!) to such an extent that the atmosphere is getting even cooler than the weather. And the weather hereabouts, we don't have to tell you, is very "unseasonal".

The 10th annual Madison Artist's exhibition, sponsored by the Madison Art assn., will be held Feb. 6 to 28 at the Madison Free library. A preview and tea for artists and association members will open the show Feb. 6; public display will begin Feb. 7.

Prizes totaling $430 will be awarded for paintings and graphics by artists who live in or near Madison. Entries will be received Friday, Feb. 4.

Charles LeClair, painter who teaches at the Pennsylvania College for Women, Pittsburgh, will be the judge.

The prizes:

$100 award of excellence for the most meritorious work;

Oscar Mayer purchase prize of $100 for the best painting in oil, selected on the basis of its adaptability for school use;

Harry S. Manchester award of $50 for first place in water color;

Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Hefty award of merit, $50;

Arthur Towell award of $25 for most meritorious work in graphic art;

Joe Rothschild award of $25 for most meritorious work in ceramics;

Madison Art assn. awards of $35, $25, and $20.

Fritz Carpenter is chairman of the gallery committee arranging the show.

MUSIC: Effective this week, WIBA is changing its schedule of rebroadcasts of NBC Symphony orchestra concerts. In the past, the Saturday programs have been recorded for airing Monday nights. Tonight, however, there will not be an NBC Symphony concert on the station; instead, the Jan. 8 program will be aired next Saturday afternoon just ahead of "Orchestras of the Nation," giving music lovers a full two-hour schedule of symphonic music.
