TONIGHT

6:30—KHJ—As a special second anniversary program, the "Family Theater" will present the tender, heartwarming story, "God and a Red Scooter." Dennis O'Keefe will star in the play and Spencer Tracy will host.

8:30 — KNX — James Melton blends Gershwin with Leoncavallo in a program of melody and drama during the "Harvest of Stars" show . . . and again tonight from Miami, Fla.

7:30—KFI—When a gag writer for a comedian finds that he is losing his sense of humor, he decides to visit a psychiatrist during the play "Psychiatric Sockeroo," for "Curtain Time." The writer is amazed when he discovers himself being treated by a lady doctor.

7:30—KECA—Ted Mack, who succeeded the late Major Edward Bowes, again presents the "Original Amateur Hour." Featured tonight will be a man 72 years old, who plays a set of minstrel bones . . . an instrument seldom heard on the air. They are made of African rosewood and require careful attention similar to that given high-priced violins.

8:30—KNX—Dr. Christian and nurse Judy investigate the claim of an ex-GI artist who declares that his superb canvases are painted during the night by his life-long friend, killed in the war, in "Phantom in the Studio."

9:00—KECA—Bob Burns, the man who quit radio for a farm, (and who now appears anxious to get back into the game) will tote out his battered bazooka and make a guest appearance with Bing Crosby. Also guestarring will be Kay Starr, torch-song dispenser.
