Howard Hughes likes the work of Janis Carter (borrowed from Columbia) in "I Married a Communist" so well that he's currently trying to arrange at least two more loan-out deals to keep this actress on for more of his own movies.

Believe it or not, publicist Bob Taplinger has caused the Ford Motor Co. to change its famed slogan, "There's a New Ford in Your Future"—and he's gotten a big check for his heckling besides! He suggested they make it "There's a Future in Your New Ford" instead—and that's just what they're going to do—and will spend many thousands doing it!

Hollywood

By Edith Gwynn

Told you recently that just about nobody, including playwright Lillian Hellman, has been able to crack out a stage play from the book. "The Naked and the Dead" and that Burt Lancaster and his partner Harold Hecht were bidding for the tome. Well, Burt and Co. now own the property and all they have to do is scrub it clean enough to make an independent movie of it. This will be a nifty little job—somewhat akin to washing an elephant.

Carol Bruce, the lush thrush, has been doing terrific business on the strawhat circuit with "Lady in the Dark." Sylvia Sidney finished with her tour of New England in "O Mistress Mine," is playing the subway circuit around New York and cleaning up! With this show, and also "The Two Mrs. Carralls," Sylvia has been reaping a salary harvest (plus percentages) topping the top Broadway stars—and has also topped business done by Tallulah Bankhead on the road in some spots. (When anyone tops Talu at anything—that's news!)

SIDNEY

Ronnie Gans, the 19-year-old law student being starred by the King bros. in "The Giant Killer," and Carmen Lopez, no Latin from Manhattan, are up to their ears in romance. She's quite a dancer.

Producer Don Hartman is getting the best kind of Christmas gift from the cast and crew of the film company making "Christmas Gift," Bob Mitchum, Janet Leigh, Wendell Corey, and all connected with this slicker have agreed to work overtime and Sundays to compensate for all the hours that Hartman takes off for his duties as head of the Citizens' Committee for the new $5,000,000 Hospital for Communicable Diseases. They'll gladly do this to keep the picture right up to schedule. Hartman's daughter was stricken with polio a few months ago.

Robert Taylor and business manager Morgan Marce are raising pedigreed pointers at their streamlined kennels in Antelope Valley. The hounds sell for as high as $1,250 and win prizes like crazy at the field-dog trials.

Whether she's your dish of tea or not, you'll soon be seeing Margaret O'Brien in a yarn called "City Girl" made at Columbia studios. Maggie's contract with Metro breathes its last in two weeks. Arthur Kober, of the better bald-headed writers, is finishing up the script right now.

Glenn Langan says the Legion of Decency has held up the American screening of "Rapture," the film he made in Rome with Swedish Elsy Albin. Because of an undraped hunk of sculpture very much in evidence during a love scene between the two.

George Sanders will soon be off for Europe and his stint in "Black Jack," to be directed by Julian Duvivier.

The newly-weds, Joanne Dru (ex Mrs. Dick Haymes) and John Ireland, are currently co-starring in Bernard Shaw's stage play, "Arms and the Man" down at the LaJolla little theater. Richard Baschard and Jean Parker are in the cast, too. You'd be amazed at how many film luminaries make the trek from Hollywood to this beach resort almost 150 miles away to see their co-workers doing the "legit" thing down there.

Edward Arnold is back in Filmtown to get ready for his stint in "Annie Get Your Gun" — and minus almost 30 pounds.

Mary Beth Hughes, very much slimmed down, will be the vamp and make with the goo-goo eyes at Gene Autry in his next, "Beyond the Purple Hills."

Ketti Frings, authoress of the novel "God's Front Porch" and many successful screen plays, sold her story, "The Wall Outside," to R. K. O. months ago, and it will soon see light as a movie. Mean-
