

DIAL LITES — TONIGHT

- 6:00—KFI—Burt Lancaster will recreate "Rope of Sand" role on Screen Directors' Playhouse tonight, taking the part of a hunting guide who slips into a South African diamond concession and walks off with some of the stones.
- 7:00—KHJ—John Foster Dulles, special consultant to the State Department for the bipartisan foreign policy of the U. S., will be the interviewed guest on "Meet the Press" tonight. Mr. Dulles answers questions hurled by representatives of two news syndicates.
- 8:00—KECA—Lonely hearts clubs turn up some pretty bizarre characters, according to Brad Runyon, "The Fat Man." One of the odd ones bursts in on him and demands help in locating a girl the lonely hearts customer had never seen. A tough assignment, but trust Brad to untangle this baffling case.
- 8:30—KFI—Dr. William Todhunter Hall is told that he has won a $20,000 literary prize and immediately sets out to build a home for retired college presidents and get a fur coat for his wife. But it turns out that the real winner is a student of "Ivy College" who has given all the credit to Dr. Hall.
- 9:00—KNX—A series of multiple murders, apparently unsolvable, leads Detective Danny Clover into a maze of a $100,000 narcotics case during the "Broadway Is My Beat" program.
