

DIAL LITES—TODAY

- 2:30—KECA—The Master teaches that faith and belief are available to all in the Biblical dramatization "The Soldiers' Servant" on "The Greatest Story Ever Told." This is the story of Barnas, the Roman commander and his servant, Marcus.
- 5:00—KFI—Hats and all, famed Hollywood columnist Hedda Hopper moves into this time spot today. On her first program she will have as her guests Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Colman, singing star Mario Lanza and gravel-voiced Andy Devine.
- 5:30—KFI—Once again Gloria Swanson plays the part of a screen actress in Somerset Maugham's "Theater," on the "Theater Guild of the Air." . . . Although Miss Swanson has always depended upon her face, she will find in this radio debut that the voice is the thing.
- 6:00—KNX—Corliss Archer cultivates the daughter of the town's richest citizen and becomes discontented with the simple life. But when it comes time to write the thanksgiving essays she learns that there is more to life than luxury, in other words "money isn't everything."
- 8:30—KFI—Alfred Wallenstein and the L. A. Philharmonic presents the first in the winter series on the "Standard Hour." This program originates from Riverside, Calif., and includes "Der Freischutz Overture," by Weber, and "Symphony No. 7," by Beethoven.
- 9:15—KHJ—"Mail Early for Christmas" . . . tonight's "Washington Report" in conjunction with the U. S. Post Office will explain the reasons for this seasonal warning.
