TIP O' THE MORNING: NBC is planning a public-service project based upon "The Thing" as the universal urge to help the needy.

Cecil Burleigh's sonata "From the Life of St. Paul," for violin and piano, has been performed recently in several German cities, including Munich, by Mark Wollner, American violinist, and Count Joseph von Kalckreuth, music critic of the Sueddeutsche Zeitung. The count wrote that the sonata is brilliant and powerful and that he played it "with joy."

Thomas Coyne, 645 E. Gorham st., will be soloist with the 80-voice Ripon College choir in a series of Christmas concerts starting Sunday at 4 p. m. in the Berlin high school. The choir also will sing at 4 p. m. Sunday, Dec. 10, in the Plymouth Congregational church, Fond du Lac, and at 4 and 8 p. m. Sunday, Dec. 17, in the Scott St. Lutheran church, Ripon.

John Wilde, assistant professor of art education at the University of Wisconsin, is represented in the annual American exhibition of the Whitney museum, New York City. He was invited by the museum directors to show an oil, "The Fountain."

Bill Stern will cover the 15th annual Cotton Bowl game in Dallas, Tex., on Monday, Jan. 1, for NBC-WIBA listeners.

Walt Disney and a production crew will go to England early in 1951 to film "The Story of Robin Hood." His "Alice in Wonderland" will be released next summer.

"BRIGADOON": A musical comedy which ran two years in New York and four months in Chicago and which has been touring for the past two years will be at the Parkway theater Wednesday, Dec. 27. It is "Brigadoon," the legend of a Scottish village which awakens only once every century.

ORATORIO: The adult choir of the First Congregational church will sing Saint-Saens' "Christmas Oratorio" as part of the church's 10:45 a. m. service Sunday, Dec. 10. LaVern Runkel will conduct, with Mrs. Chester Easum as organist.

Soloists will be Mrs. Robert Schacht and Mrs. Max Guyer, sopranos; Mrs. Ralph Kamm and Mrs. Edward Law, altos, and Robert Nottingham, bass.

MAIL BAG: A note from "H. J." "Half the fun of going to a concert is reading what you say about it the next day."

And from Walter Heermann, conductor of the Madison Civic Symphony orchestra: "Just a line to tell you how much we at the Vocational school enjoyed your 'Community' broadcast this (Wednesday) afternoon. There certainly was variety in your program, and my personal thanks go to you for giving our Civic orchestra such a good spot."
