

DIAL LITES — TONIGHT

6:00—KNX—"A Killing in Abilene," starring Alan Ladd, is an "off beat" story heard on Suspense tonight. The difference lies in its western flavor which is unusual for this program.

7:00—KECA—Two of Hollywood's foremost stars, Ann Baxter and Van Heflin, will play the leading roles tonight when the "Screen Guild Players" present a one-hour dramatization of the English suspense classic, "The Seventh Veil."

8:00—KECA—Ted Mack's Original Amateur Hour tonight will be teamed with the citizens of Santa Claus, Ind., in an endeavor to shower New York's neediest children with Christmas toys.

8:30—KHJ—Sen. Wayne Morse (R.-Ore.) will be the interview guest for the "Reporter's Roundup" broadcast tonight.

9:00—KFI—Spending a day in bed to cure his cold proves anything but restful for Jim Anderson (Robert Young) in "Father Knows Best." Says father: "I'll take it easy" . . . but does he?
