

Spotlightin

Hear It Now, KTSA, 8 p.m.—

Second broadcast of CBS' program of spoken history will feature the voices of such headline personalities as Gen. Douglas MacArthur, Bernard Baruch, the Duchess of Windsor, poet Carl Sandburg and baseball executive Branch Rickey. The New York Times said that "Edward R. Murrow and Fred W. Friendly have proved that news in the raw can be exciting radio fare without help from flamboyant predictions or malicious gossip."

Christmas Carols, KTSA, 3:30 p.m. — Benjamin Britten's

"Ceremony of Carols," a choral work using old English texts in Christmas music, will be presented by the University of Nebraska Madrigal Singers. The musical work synthesizes the spirit of early English glees and madrigals with medieval plain-chant, and is written for three-part singing with harp accompaniment.

Songs For Sale, KTSA, 7 p.m.

Jan Murray, singers Rosemary Clooney and Richard Hayes, with Ray Bloch and his orchestra give hopeful song-writers a chance to show off their wares.

Pan-American Christmas.

KMAC, 7:30 p.m.—Children of the Pan-American embassies in Washington will be interviewed as they hold their annual Christmas celebration.

Jack Smith Sings, KTSA,

6:15 p.m. — The popular vocalist is joined by Margaret Whiting for a duet on "All Around the Christmas Tree," and they do a medley