Gracie Allen will get her first taste of life on the wild and woolly ranges of the West during her broadcast with patient George Burns, singer Dick Foran and Ray Noble's orchestra over WMAQ at 6 p. m. (over WIBA at 8:30).

Foran, who plays cowboy roles in the films, has invited the gang to his ranch near Hollywood for the purpose of introducing Gracie to his favorite horse. He is pretty sure that the animal and Miss Allen will understand one another perfectly.

Ray Noble, the suave British bandleader who has surprised critics and listeners throughout the country with his hitherto hidden ability as a comedy actor, insists on bringing his wife into the program this week. It will be a fictional Mrs. Noble, of course, portrayed by Margaret Brayton.

Songs by Gracie and Dick Foran, three Noble arrangements of popular dance tunes and commercial announcements by Ronald Drake, who is really Wen Niles but had to change his name to get on the show, will round out the program.

Dr. Lloyd C. Douglas, author of "Magnificent Obsession," will talk between the acts of the radio version of his great novel on the Radio Theater tonight at 7.

The play, starring Robert Taylor and Irene Dunne, will be broadcast from Hollywood. Between the acts, Producer Cecil B. DeMille will order the program switched to New York, where Dr. Douglas will be standing at a microphone ready to begin his brief talk.

Beginning today, WLS will present the radio drama "Virginia Lee and Sunbeam" at a new hour. The broadcast, which has been heard for the past few weeks at 1:15 o'clock central standard time, every Monday, Wednesday and Friday, will be heard in the future at 12:15 o'clock Chicago daylight saving time, 11:15 a. m. central standard time on the same days.
