Radio News and Programs

FDR, Dennis King, Mary Carlisle Among Celebrities on the Air

It is the bringing together of diverse and interesting personalities which has made Bing Crosby's program a standout. Perfect example of this type of entertainment was the meeting of Simone Simon, pictured above, with Bing and Bob Burns. The slight French accent of the screen ingenue, mixed up with the Crosby lingo and Burns' Van Buren drawl was sure fire comedy.

President Roosevelt will be heard frequently over the networks during his cross-country trip which will take him aboard the cruiser, Houston, for the manœuvers of the Pacific battle fleet and, at its end, carry him to his Hyde Park estate in New York for a brief vacation.

Two of the president's talks will be heard on anniversary celebrations. The first will be delivered Friday at Muskingum park, Marietta, O., at the dedication of the Northwest Territory Memorial and will be heard at 8:30 a. m. over WIBA and WBBM and at 8:45 a. m. over WLS.

The other anniversary talk will be the third year birthday of the social security act to which the president affixed his signature three years ago next Aug. 15. On that day, the president is scheduled to address a meeting in the Shoreham hotel, Washington, D. C., via radio from Hyde Park from 8:30 to 8:45 p. m. The Washington gathering will have Arthur J. Altmeyer, chairman of the social security board, as its president. The other speaker on the program will be Sen. Robert F. Wagner of New York.

While on his trip to the coast, Mr. Roosevelt also is tentatively scheduled to speak on Friday at Covington, Ky., at approximately 1:30 p. m.; on Saturday, at 7 p. m. in Oklahoma City, and from the grounds of the San Francisco World's fair on Treasure island, Thursday, July 14, at approximately 2 p. m.

He also is expected to be heard from Fort Worth and Amarillo, Tex.; Pueblo, Colo., and Los Angeles and San Diego, Cal. It will be at San Diego that Mr. Roosevelt will board the cruiser, Houston, for the fleet war games.

The sponsor of "First Nighter," which moves from NBC to CBS in September, is reported set to bring back its "Grand Hotel" series over CBS in the fall.

Father Charles E. Coughlin is currently engaged in lining up a network for his return to the air on Nov. 6.

Martin Gosch, CBS producer now on the coast, is working on the audition of a Milton Berle show with Harry Conn dishing up the material. Another series based on Paul Gallico's "Golden Gloves," starring Wayne Morris and Billy Halop, is reported to have a sponsor interested.

Al Taylor, clarinetist with Fran Frey's orchestra on Edward G. Robinson's "Big Town" broadcasts, hit a low note when he took a header off the bandstand right after the conclusion of the last broadcast and had to be patched up by the network medico.

Judy Garland, young vocalist, replaces wide-mouthed Martha Raye as singer on the Al Jolson program July 12. Martha goes to Chicago for personal appearances.

Trio Adds Variety to Show

The Hickville Trio, with Billroy's Comedians

Variety is the spice of life, so amidst the girls in the 1938 edition of Billroy's Comedians, the management has retained "the Hickville trio." Here they are, snapped in a merry moment. The show will be in Madison tonight at Commercial ave. show grounds.

New England Villages Lead

Radio Ranks First as Music Source

BY RUBY A. BLACK

WASHINGTON—Music, by radio, piano, and phonograph, is more prevalent in the village homes of New England than in any other region, with the north central and middle Atlantic states second, if 139 villages picked as representative are truly typical.

But the radio, with its symphonies and swing-time, leads all instruments, although it entered American family life less than two decades ago.

In 14 Massachusetts and Vermont villages, 93.4 per cent of the 743 homes questioned by the U. S. department of agriculture's bureau of home economics had radios.

In 46 villages in Wisconsin, Michigan, Illinois, Iowa, Pennsylvania, and Ohio, 89 per cent of the 3,042 families questioned had radios. The 1,471 families in 24 California, Oregon, and Washington villages exceeded the middle states, however, in the ownership of radios, 92.4 per cent of them tuning in.

Middle States Second

The middle states were second to New England, however, in ownership of pianos and phonographs, as 42.4 per cent of the New England village homes and 40.2 per cent of the middle states homes had pianos, and 22.3 per cent of the New England homes and 20.9 per cent of the middle Atlantic and north central homes had phonographs.

Only among Negro families in southeastern villages did phonographs rank above radio and the piano as the source of music. Of the 972 Negro families questioned in 34 villages in North and South Carolina, Georgia, and Mississippi, only 17.9 per cent had radios, 9.7 per cent had pianos, and 20.1 per cent had phonographs. Maybe they got second-hand phonographs cheap, or free, from "white folks" who didn't want them after they got radios.

In the same area, 76 per cent of the white families had radios, 27.4 per cent had pianos, and 13.3 per cent had phonographs.

Youthful Pianist

From nearly half the New England village homes came the sound of little girls running scales on the piano, while from nine out of ten of them blared the radio.

The piano was in two out of five middle state farm homes, but the radio was heard in nearly nine out of ten such homes, and the phonograph in only one out of five.

Only non-relief families, which included husband and wife, both born in this country, were included in the study of consumer purchases, a WPA project directed by the bureau of home economics, and aided by the department of labor's bureau of labor statistics, the national resources committee, and the central statistical board.
