Roosevelt Addresses Forum Institute on Current Problems Tonight

Overshadowed by Charlie McCarthy's spectacular rise in Hollywood, pictured, Dorothy Lamour's climb to stardom has been none the less sensational. When she joined the big Sunday night show at its opening with Charlie, Edgar Bergen and Don Ameche, she was just beginning a picture career. Now she ranks among the big box office draws.

President Roosevelt heads the airwaves tonight when he addresses the Forum institute in New York. The President will speak on the nation's current problems. The complete Forum institute program and the highlight programs for tonight and Thursday-time, classified, follows:

Sellout Crowd of 47,000 to Watch Gophers, Wildcats

EVANSTON, Ill. — Minnesota, safely past two hurdles in its drive for another Big Ten title, will face Northwestern's unbeaten but tied eleven at Dyche stadium Saturday in a game vital to the championship hopes of both teams. It will be homecoming for the Wildcats and a capacity crowd of 47,000 will witness the game.

The Gophers enter the second half of their schedule with four victories to their credit, having disposed of Washington, Nebraska, Purdue and Michigan. With the season half over, the Northmen remain the only unbeaten and untied team in the conference race.

Northwestern likewise enters the second half of its schedule but has a scoreless tie with Ohio State to mar an otherwise unblemished record. The Wildcats toppled Kansas State and Drake in their warmup clashes and stopped Illinois, 13-0, last Saturday.

VanEvery Key Man

An open date in Minnesota's schedule last Saturday has given the Gophers two weeks rest since their grueling, 7-6, game with Michigan and an opportunity for their two injured backs—Harold VanEvery and Wilbur Moore to recover. VanEvery who played a prominent role in Minnesota's 7-0 victory over Northwestern last year and who threw the touchdown pass against Michigan this year is the key member of the Gopher backfield. Injured in the first game of the season against Washington he recovered sufficiently to play the last few minutes against Michigan which proved sufficiently to clinch the victory for the Gophers.

Both Northwestern and Minnesota boast strong defenses. The Wildcats have not been scored upon this year while the Gophers' goal line has been crossed but twice. Nebraska scored by recovering a fumble while Michigan scored on a pass. The Gopher line, regarded as one of the strongest defensive forward walls in the conference will outweigh the Wildcats more than five pounds per man.

Northwestern, however, has compiled a noteworthy defensive record this year. In four games the Wildcats have held opponents to 26 first downs while rolling up 66. From scrimmage, Northwestern has gained 975 yards to 415 for opponents and has gained 303 yards by passing to 192 for opponents.

Hahnenstein Big Help

This unusual defensive record might very well be laid to Northwestern's strong line. The keystone of the Wildcats defense centers around two powerful tackles, Bob Voigts and Nick Cutlich, and the center, John Haman. All three have been a veritable stone wall in the games to date. Other members of the first string line are Don Guritz and Hal Method, guards, and Cleo Diehl and Tom Eby, ends.

Northwestern's attack, built around Jack Ryan, Bernie Jefferson, halfbacks and George McGurn and Jay Laskay, fullbacks, has improved with each game. Against Illinois, the Wildcats rolled up 169 yards from scrimmage. So successful did the running attack function that only three passes were attempted, one of which was completed for a 15 yard gain.

Most pleasing aspect of Northwestern's offense is the steady improvement of reserve backs, principally Oliver Hahnenstein, substitute left halfback. This red headed sophomore placed the Wildcats in a position for both touchdowns against Illinois and unreeled the longest run of the game—28 yards—late in the fourth quarter.

Strnager Takes Hand and Helps Pesek Score Win

A stranger who would not give his name was a popular hero at the Eagles' club Tuesday night when he accepted an open offer to permit anyone who wanted to referee to do so. He climbed into the ring after two falls of the opening Joe Dorsetti-Stan Pesek bout and helped Pesek win by flooring Dorsetti when the latter did not heed his rulings.

Pesek had won the first fall in 21 minutes with a Japanese leg lock and Dorsetti the second in six minutes. Then it was that Jim Demetral climbed into the ring to answer critics of the referee by asking for volunteers. The stranger jumped at the chance. After seven miutes of trying to make Dorsetti behave he finally knocked him down and Pesek jumped on top to win the final fall.

The team event was won by Duke Ruppenthal and Dickie Gerber, who took two out of three falls. There was no fall in the first 10 minute round, but "Rowdy" Pocan and "Buzz" Reynolds took the second round by entangling the legs of Ruppenthal and Gerber in a double Indian deathlock and then dropping on their foes.

The Duke and Dickie tied the count at 1-1 by a furious attack of one minute of body slams and then took the third fall in six minutes when they tossed Pocan out of the ring and then Ruppenthal dropped Reynolds across Gerber's knee in the Duke's favored "backbreaker."
