Move to Form New Group of Welfare Directors Ruled Out

FOND DU LAC —(AP)— An attempt to form a council of full-time local welfare directors within the Wisconsin Public Welfare assn. was ruled out or order Friday afternoon.

The ruling was made by Allen Whelan, Fond du Lac, association president, after a 30-minute wrangle over a constitutional amendment proposed by Joseph Baldwin, Milwaukee county welfare director.

Balwin's resolution was thrown out because it was not presented before the convention as the rules provided.

Supporters of the proposal made originally by Frank Finley, Crawford county director, argued that the smaller group could do a better job in working for desired legislation and coordinate its activities with local county boards and the Wisconsin County Boards assn.

Membership in the state body now is open to all public welfare directors, staff members, committeemen, and other interested workers.

John S. Patten, Superior, was elected president of the welfare association, succeeding Whelan.

Other officers elected were:

Robert S. Baldwin, Fond du Lac, first vice-president; Frank Connelly, Monroe county, second vice-president; Alice McKone, secretary; and Mrs. Nora Frank, Juneau county, treasurer.

The new officers will select the dates and place of the 1951 convention.

The conference will end today.

ANNOUNCES EXAMS

The city personnel division announced a civil service examination Friday for Clerk Stenographer II at a salary range of $125 to $160 monthly plus $65.73 cost of living adjustment. Applications will be accepted until the needs are met.

FEATURE: The Third Man.

TYPE: Mystery and suspense.

CAST: Holly Martins, Joseph Cotten; Anna Schmidt, Valli; Harry Lime, Orson Welles; Maj. Calloway, Trevor Howard, zither soloist, Anton Karas; the third man.

REVIEWER: Wallace Wikoff.

STORY: Western novelist Holly Martins lands in post-war Vienna looking for his old pal, Harry Lime, and becomes involved in murder, intrique and international byplay, revolving around some black market dealings. Refugee Anna Schmidt (Valli) has to make, of course, the supreme decision between Martins and Lime while the police are after all three in one way or another.

HIGH POINTS: Devotion of amazing photography for atmosphere . . . the director's playing with the audience's emotions through tense build-ups and hilarious letdowns . . . good supporting roles . . . the uncertainty of the outcome (see the movie from the beginning) . . . Karas' now famous zither background, serving its purpose without dominating the film.

LOW POINTS: Orson Welles—the first syllable of Hamlet.

VERDICT: Except for some flaws, it could be a masterpiece.

Life Underwriters Elect Milwaukee Man

OSHKOSH — (AP) — A. Jack Nussbaum, Milwaukee, was elected president of the Wisconsin State Association of Life Underwriters Friday at the opening of a two-day convention.

Other officers named were Charles W. Tomlinson, Madison, administrative vice-president; E. C. Ebersoll of Milwaukee, vice-president, and Edward C. Schroder, Appleton, secretary-treasurer.

Two associate groups—the Wisconsin Life Insurance Leaders' club and the Wisconsin Life Managers and General Agents assn. —met Thursday.

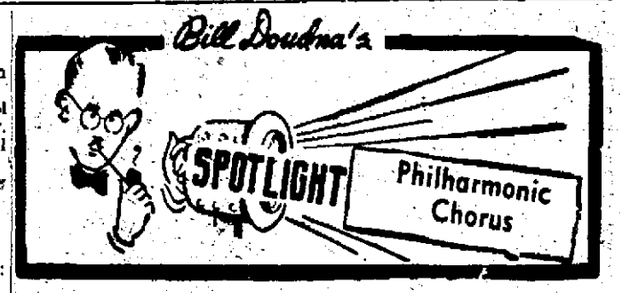
Chosen president of the leaders' club was Clyde S. Coffel, Milwaukee.

Leland W. Spickard, Madison, was chosen head of the latter association.

Governor Proclaims 'I Am An American Day'

Observance of "I am an American Day" May 21 was asked in a proclamation by Gov. Rennebohm Friday.

The day has been designated by Pres. Truman to give special recognition to citizens who have reached the age of 21 and persons who became citizens in the past year.



TIP O' THE MORNING: Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.) is scheduled to speak on NBC at 11 a. m. Monday; his office tells us . . . No word yet from NBC on what stations will carry the address.

With all the spirit and vitality of a college chorus and the ease of professionals, the Philharmonic Chorus of Madison gave a highly successful concert Friday night in West high school auditorium.

The group lacked the tenseness which had marked many of its previous performances; instead, it followed Robert Petzold's conducting gracefully and smoothly.

This was demonstrated best in Randall Thompson's "The Peaceable Kingdom," in which shading plays an important role. The chorus handled the rise and fall of volume naturally, with none of the rapt attention to mechanics that so often mars such a piece. Robert Fox's few bars of solo work uncovered a fine tenor voice.

Dr. Henry A. Peters made an individual hit with his solo in "The Turtle Dove," by R. Vaughn Williams. His baritone was light but of such quality that it held its own with the chorus. The audience called him back to repeat part of the number.

The group sang a group of early English music with just the right touch of lightness, and did beautifully, too, with a Brahms motet. The sprightly "Yarmilla," a dancing folk song, gave the concert a sparkling finale.

Walter Heermann, conductor of the Madison Civic Symphony orchestra and Civic chorus, was guest soloist, playing four cello numbers to the able and often shining accompaniment of Margaret Otterson.

Heermann's singing tone and fluent playing were heard to best advantage in Granados' "Intermezzo" and Popper's "Vito," his second group. In the first, especially, his rich gift for melody flourished. To Haydn's "Divertimento" he gave a lyrical quality, too, but of a different, more delicate kind.

ART: Lithographs by students in the University of Wisconsin art education department are on display this month at the University club. The work came from the classes of Prof. Alfred Sessler, who is in charge of the exhibit.

ON THE AIR: Direct broadcasts of the Northwestern-Michigan-Wisconsin track meet and the "Cardinal-White" football game will be carried Saturday, Apr. 20, by WIBA.

THEATER GUILD: Robert Merriman will return to Madison next year for a second season as director of the Madison Theater Guild. He left Wednesday for Baltimore, Md., where he will be technical director of the Hilltop theater for the next 16 weeks.

Merriman's reappointment by the board of education was recommended by the Guild's board of governors.

John C. Sammis, 4141 Iroquois dr., was elected president of the organization at its annual meeting Tuesday night. He succeeded Paul F. Hunter, Jr., 139 W. Wilson st., who was elected to the board of governors for a one-year term.

Isabel Saeck, 808½ University ave., was elected vice-president to succeed Julia H. Mailer, 2310 West Lawn ave. The board of governors will appoint the secretary and treasurer. These offices are held now by Cleo Dunn Sammis, 4141 Iroquois dr., and Walter E. Malec, 2533 E. Johnson st., respectively.
