U. W. Schedules Saturday Trips

5 Tours to South, Central Area Set

A series of five Saturday geography tours, including trips to points of interest in south and central Wisconsin, will be sponsored this fall by the University of Wisconsin extension division's geography department.

The trips, an annual series, will be directed by Robert W. Finley, chairman of the extension division's geography department.

Travel will be by bus, with reservations limited to 40 persons. Trips will start each Saturday at 8 a. m., and a fee will be charged, not including meals.

Rickets will be transferable, the university said, pointing out that two or more persons can enroll for one fee, dividing the fee and trips as desired. Registration is open to all area residents.

Although varying from previous tours in areas visited, the 1951 trips will follow the established pattern including lectures on each region, the university said. Some visits will have local guides to points of special interest, it was reported.

Registration may be made in Room 203 Extension building or by telephone at University 4628.

Dates and places announced for the tours follow.

Sept. 29—Swiss country and southwestern Wisconsin, extending through southern Dane county, north of Rock County, the natural bridge at Rockbridge, and the new state park at Wildcat mountain.

Oct. 6—Hard Maple hill and valley country of the driftless area, including the sandy wastelands in the Wisconsin river valley near Spring Green, the winding road along the river between Gothic and Muscoda, the Pine river valley north of Richland Center, the natural bridge at Rockbridge, and the new state park at Wildcat mountain.

Oct. 13—The Central plain, including Roche a Cri road side park, a cranberry bog, Petenwell power dam and reservoir, and the Neenah wild life refuge.

Oct. 20—The lead and zinc region, including Clamuel-Helsa Sp. features, mine near Shullsburg, Sinsinawa mound, Mississippi river, Dubuque, Ia., dam and locks, Galena, Ill., and a visit to U. S. Grant's home, the scenic ridge drive southeast of Galena, and the Apple River, Ill., state park.

Oct. 27—Southeastern Wisconsin, including Aztalan Indian village near Lake Monona, the water mill at Rockdale, a tour of Yerkes observatory at Williams Bay, a boat excursion on Lake Geneva, and the Kettle Moraine state forest and recreation area.

Whitelaw Woman Is Winner of State Farm Essay Contest

A Manitowoc county woman Friday was named the winner of the annual essay contest sponsored by the Wisconsin Farm Bureau federation.

Mrs. Victor Shavlik, Whitelaw, was named the winner for her essay on "We, the People," by O. B. Anderson, director of information of the bureau.

Second and third place winners were Mrs. Elmer Krull, Lake Mills, and Mrs. Norbert Weber, Randolph. These three women will be awarded prizes of $15, $10 and $5, respectively, at the farm bureau's state convention later this year.

The awards were made at the closing session of the fifth annual short course for the women of the Farm Bureau at the Park Hotel.

At this meeting, graduation certificates were presented to six members of the Associated Women of the Wisconsin Farm Bureau federation in recognition of their attendance at four consecutive annual short course meetings.

They were: Mrs. Fred Swetlik, Mrs. Charles Hansen and Mrs. Ed J. Rozum, Manitowoc county; Mrs. Arno Rackow, Sheboygan county; Mrs. William Fox, Rock county; and Mrs. Frank Bloom, Green county.

The certificates were presented by James C. Green, executive secretary-treasurer of the Wisconsin Farm Bureau federation.

Mrs. R. Douglas, state chairman, presided over the three-day short course.

$10,000,000 Program Will Aid Rural Youth

WASHINGTON — (UP) — A $10,000,000 five-point program of service and research aimed at the needs of rural youth was announced Friday by the National 4-H Club Foundation of America.

The non-profit educational organization said no government funds will be used in carrying out the five-year program.

One of the projects will deal with what E. W. Aiton, executive director of the foundation, calls "growing problems" of rural children. He said little attention has been given to appraising accurately their developmental needs at different age levels.

Also being planned, the foundation said, a special program for advanced training of extension agents and other youth workers; support of certain phases of a citizenship training program now being considered by the agriculture department; continuation of the international farm youth exchange; and development of an international rural pen pals program.

Under the farm youth exchange program, now in its fourth year, 150 young men and women from U. S. farms have lived and worked for three to five months with farm families in 22 countries, while farm youth from those countries have visited here. The planned enlargement would bring the total up to 200 exchanges with about 40 countries for 1952, the foundation said.

Visitation Day Set at Home for Aged

Oakwood Lutheran Home for the Aged will observe its annual visitation day on Sunday, Sept. 9, Dr. O. J. Wilke, president of the Oakwood Lutheran Home assn., announced Friday.

The events will begin at 3 p. m. with an outdoor service on the grounds. After that, there will be open house and refreshments, including chiliburgers, ice cream, cake and coffee.

Committees in charge are led by David Baltes, Middleton, and Mrs. Adolph Stang, Madison. Members of the committees are from the Hope Lutheran church, Cottage Grove; St. James Lutheran church, Verona; St. Luke's Lutheran church, Middleton, and Zion, St. John's and Lakeview Lutheran churches of Madison.

The home is located on Mineral Point rd., about a mile west of the city limits.

10-Word Telegram Bows Out After 100-Year Run

NEW YORK — (UP) — The historic 10-word telegram—nine words plus "love"—bows from the American scene today after a run of 100 years.

New rates approved by the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) for Western Union, to meet the costs of recent wage increases, change the minimum to 15 words for a telegram.

The rate for a 15-word full rate telegram will be less than before—$1.60 from New York to San Francisco, for instance, against $1.85 formerly. But if you only want to send 10 words, you still have to pay the $1.60 minimum, while under the old rate you could send 10 words for $1.45. However, the company says the average telegram runs 14 words.

The night letter may now carry up to 30 words at the minimum rate, instead of 25.

The FCC decided last Friday to permit higher charges to meet higher operating costs.

Madison VA Manager Assigned to Milwaukee

Eldon M. Stenjem, Jr., who has been manager of the Madison Veterans Administration (VA) office for five years is being reassigned to the Milwaukee office, starting Tuesday.

John E. Tobin, contact representative, has been appointed officer-in-charge of the VA office here, it was announced today by J. P. Cullen, manager.

Recent changes, including centralization of the vocational training activities in the Milwaukee regional office, have reduced the Madison VA staff to 27 persons.

At the Shows

Capitol
FEATURE: Warpath
FUTUR: Western
CAST: John Vickers, Edmond O'Brien, O'Hara, Dean Jagger, Irish, Wallace Ford, Molly Quade, Polly Bergen.
REVIEW: Wally Wilkoff
STORY: Vickers, carrying a grudge against three men, joins the Seventh U. S. cavalry to locate one of them. It was during the time of the Sioux uprising, culminating in Custer's last stand so Vickers adds too much time to carry out his private war. Molly, it develops, is the daughter of one of his "victims." With Indians shooting at him from the front and his white enemy, O'Hara, shooting him from the back, Vickers does well to come through the movie alive—which is more than Custer did.

HIGH POINTS: Good photography (with one exception where an obviously model train chugs through papier mache mountains).
Lively plot, downright blood-thirsty... convincing performances of the two male leads.
LOW POINTS: Weak supporting cast... The story ended so abruptly, you could smell the brakes on the projection machine.
VERDICT: Much better than the average western. With a strong cast, and more thought, it could have rivaled "Climacour."
