Truman Keeps Popping at Ike

Calls Him Spokesman for 'Old Guard GOP'

ABOARD TRUMAN TRAIN (AP)—President Truman invaded California in his stop-Eisenhower campaign Friday, firing away at the general as "the spokesman for the Old Guard GOP," and forecasting an end to public power development "if the Republicans succeed in grabbing off the White House and the Congress next november."

At stake were California's 32 electoral votes, which Truman captured for himself four years ago and now is fighting, in a war at the whistle stops, to win for Gov. Adlai Stevenson and the Democratic ticket.

Inspects Train

After pausing to inspect mighty Shasta Dam—which waters the farms and powers industries in the Golden State's Central Valley—Truman declared at Redding that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower has removed any doubt that the Republicans would 'wreck the public power program if they got the chance.

"The Republican party platform hints at this intent," Truman said in a prepared speech. "Their candidate for president now has confirmed it and their record in Congress bears him out."

Truman said Eisenhower has surrendered to the "Old Guard" on every issue, from public power to national defense, and he said the power of the "Old Guard" is so great that liberal Republicans are being driven out of the party.

Striking a similar note at Redding, Truman said he felt sorry for "that little band of liberal Republicans"—men like California Gov. Earl Warren and Oregon Sen. Wayne Morse—"who dreamed that the general would become their champion."

'Now Spokesman'

"When the general spoke in Boise, Ida., a few short weeks ago," he went on, "he left no doubt that he was now the spokesman for the Old Guard GOP."

(In the Boise speech, Eisenhower assailed what he called the "leftist" views of the Truman administration that the government must build the dams, distribute the power and do everything but come in and wash the housewife's dishes.)

Treasury Secretary Praises Newsboys' Aid to Free Press

PHILADELPHIA (U.P.) — Secretary of Treasury John W. Snyder hailed American newspaperboys Friday as "the messengers of a free press which has made our people the best informed anywhere in the world."

At a Philadelphia Bulletin dinner marking National Newspaperboy Day, Snyder said "many millions of Americans would be unable to get a daily newspaper except at considerable inconvenience" were it not for the enterprise and industry of the nation's half-million newspaper carriers.

Snyder once was a delivery boy himself, for the Jonesboro Tribune in his home town of Jonesboro, Ark.

Newsboys, he said, have taken "an early lead in assuming American citizenship responsibilities" through their participation in sales of U. S. savings bonds and stamps.

"It bodes well for the future of America that these young citizens are already helping to build solid foundations for the continued growth and progress of our nation," the secretary said.

The Postoffice is issuing a commemorative stamp in honor of newspaperboys.
