DISCS OF THE DAY: Recent recommended "pops" records:

Rosemary Clooney (Columbia): "When I See You" and "It Just Happened to Happen to Me!"
Nice backing by Percy Faith's orchestra.

Guy Mitchell (Columbia): "Look at That Girl" and "Hannah Lee".... Typical Mitch Miller orchestration, too.

20 Music Groups to Take Part in Cambridge Event

CAMBRIDGE—Twenty musical organizations, including a massed chorus of 100 voices will take part in two pageants planned in Foundation Park, Cambridge, as part of the American Legion festival Saturday and Sunday.

The two-day celebration will include a trained dog act and feature some of the finest trained obedience dogs in the country, according to Legion officials. A 4-H show will bring together exhibits by area youths.

A pageant will be presented at 8:45 each night, directed by Eileen Scott, drama instructor at Johnson Creek high school. Proceeds of the event will go toward the James Munro Legion clubhouse in Cambridge.

At the Shows

Orpheum

FEATURE: Never Wave at a Wac.
TYPE: Comedy.
REVIEWER: Don Davies.
CAST: Josephine McBain, Rosalind Russell, Andrew McBain, Paul Douglas, Clara Schneiderman, Marie Wilson.

PLOT: A socialite (Rosalind Russell), the divorced daughter of a U. S. senator, enlists in the Women's Army Corps with the misguided idea that she will be given an immediate commission and will be able to join her prospective husband in Paris.

She is detoured from the goal, but meets a former burlesque queen (Marie Wilson) in the WAC whose desire is to be part of the WAC Intelligence Service, although she has none to spare.

Our two heroines brave the hazards of Army life, including a stint in testing service gear, but survive in the best situation comedy style.

HIGH POINTS: Fast-moving satire slows up considerably near the end of the picture, with the finish almost anti-climatic.

VERDICT: Delightful comedy, shaky in spots, but enhanced by Miss Russell's performance.
