Canonization Miracles Approved by Pope Pius

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Three decrees approving miracles for the canonization of Pope Pius X, a French priest, and an Italian nun were read Sunday in the presence of Pope Pius XII.

The reading of the decrees of the Congregation of Rites was another formal step in elevating Pius X to sainthood.

Pius X, who died in 1914, will be elevated to sainthood May 29 in an outdoor ceremony in St. Peter's Square.

Decrees approving miracles also were read this morning for Father Pierre Louis Maria Chanel, first Catholic martyr of Oceania, and Sister Maria Crecifissa di Rosa. They will be canonized June 13.

THE ARTISTRY of Vladimir Horowitz as expressed in his silver anniversary concert at Carnegie Hall about a year ago has been preserved by RCA Victor in an album-recording of that program.

Horowitz, then 23, made his American debut in the same auditorium Jan. 12, 1928. The anniversary concert was given Feb. 25, 1953.

On the four sides of the long-play discs are Schubert's "Posthumous Sonata in B Flat," Chopin's "Nocturne in E Minor" and "Scherzo No. 1," Scriabin's "Sonata No. 1," two Scriabin etudes, and the Liszt-Horowitz "Hungarian Rhapsody No. 2."

Most of the music echoes the pianist's statement of his aim, as quoted in an excellent accompany brochure: "to make every phrase he plays sing."

Formidable in the difficult, exciting passages, Horowitz plays the delicate ones with loving care.

Here is an album which every devotee of piano music should have.

TODAY'S QUOTE: New York is a place where the taxi meters go faster than the taxis."—Herb Shriner.

OOPS, SORRY: Ned Calmer, anchor man on CBS Radio's "World News Roundup," said the other morning: "From a high horse in Panmunjom . . . " The slip might have flustered some speakers, but nobody could have been calmer than Calmer. He corrected himself and went on. The fluff called to mind the time another newsman attributed a Washington news item to "a usual reliable White Horse souse."

✦ ✦ ✦

REUNION: When Galen Drake met Betty Johnson, 23-year-old featured singing attraction on his new program, he smiled, "My goodness how you've grown, Betty." The songstress was a little startled. "I don't believe we've ever met," she said. "I know," the radio pundit replied, "I heard you sing when you were six years old, on the radio program your family used to have. You must have grown some since then."

✦ ✦ ✦

PLACE OF HONOR: Former President Harry S. Truman has acquired a new memento for his collection. It is the original microphone on which NBC's H. V. Kaltenborn once announced to the world the "news" that Truman's rival for the presidency in 1948, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, had "been elected."

The mike was presented at a luncheon of the Radio and Television Executives society in New York City.

Kaltenborn gave an imitation of Truman imitating the newscaster when the latter dramatically told the world that "Dewey had been elected." Then, in his famous clipped style, H.V.K. added: "Inaccuracy could go no further." The former president said he would treasure the microphone with "a place of honor in my library," and think of it when he thinks of "pleasant things."

✦ ✦ ✦

RADIO GAINS: Nighttime NBC Radio programs continue to show increased audiences this year over 1952, the network has revealed.

The current Nielsen report for Nov. 15-21 shows six NBC nighttime programs with substantial gains over the same period of 1952, including one multi-weekly news strip, "News of the World," which tops all other network news programs and ranks second only to NBC's "One Man's Family" in its popularity in the multi-weekly program group.

Notable in the nighttime audience gain is "Great Artists," which has increased its audience by 486,000 homes—increase of 25.8 per cent over the same period last year.

"Week end," NBC Radio's Sunday "newspaper of the air," is revealed in the same Niesen Index as topping all network Sunday daytime programs with a rating of 3.6, giving the program an audience of 1,611,000 radio homes.
