

The really dull period of the networks has finally arrived. For proof, well, just look at tonight's airwave schedule. Few and far between are the topnotch programs—except for the lover of symphonic music. Another Grant Park concert will be heard from Chicago. Tonight's political highlight will be a speech by Postmaster General James Farley from the state of Washington.

The better of tonight's offerings classified:

Variety

7 p. m.—Tim and Irene (WLS): in the Royal revue this comedy team starts a racket.

Discussion

6 p. m.—Town Meeting (WLS): "Is Democracy Possible in the Machine Age?" Listen and find out.

Speeches

10:30 p. m.—James A. Farley (WBBM): speaking to the young democrats in Seattle, Wash.

Book Review

6 p. m. — Of Men and Books (WBBM): "Fannie Kemble" by Margaret Armstrong and "Tarnished Warrior" by John Peter Altgeld will be reviewed.

Drama

8 p. m.—First Nighter (WIBA): the story of the sacrifices of a doctor's wife in "Son Meet Father."

8:30 p. m. — Curtain Time (WGN): the story of a fugitive from justice who goes to a mild insane colony—"Passage Through Limbo."

Music

7 p. m. — Grant Park concert (WBBM): the Chicago Philharmonic orchestra with Richard Czerwonky conducting.

7 p. m.—Waltz Time (WMAQ): Abe Lyman and Frank Munn make up a modern half hour of music.

8 p. m. — Design for Dancing (WENR): William Challinor leads orchestra in own arrangements in the second program of a new series.

Saturdaytime

10 a. m. — Oxford Ensemble (WBBM): modern and classical French compositions featured.

10 a. m.—Call to Youth (WIBA): Roger W. Straus, mining executive, speaks on "Who Is Our Neighbor?"

10:30 a. m. — National Grange (WIBA): Robert L. Owen, Oklahoma senator, discusses "Government Monetary Control."

1:30 p. m.—Rhythm and Rhyme (WTMJ): the second program of currently popular tunes.

4:45 p. m. — Art of Living (WIBA): Dr. Norman V. Peale speaks on "Don't Be a Victim of the Obstacle Complex."

5 p. m. — Message of Israel (WENR): "Babylon to Berlin" will be the topic of Rabbi Abraham Feinberg's address.

5:30 p. m.—Fun Time (WHA): King Coles' Castle of fun in melodic form.