

Navy Men Guests Of Basin Street Chamber Society

Students Of Reserve Midshipmen's School To Witness Broadcast; Contented Program Features Vacation Music

It will be all hands on deck and anchors aweigh when the virtuosos of the WJZ's "Chamber Music Society of Lower Basin Street," convene for weekly recital Monday at 8 p. m.

On hand for the concert will be 300 future admirals from the U. S. Naval Reserve Midshipman's School, the USS Prairie State, to whom the program will be dedicated. In the very first row will be Middie Perron, for the first time seeing his cousin, Diane Courtney, broadcasting.

"Dr. Henry Levine and his Dixieland Octet will play "It Makes No Difference Now" and "Carry Me Back To Old Virginny," while "Maestro" Paul Laval will direct his Windy Ten in readings of "Clarinet in a Haunted House" and "Kangaroo Jump."

Vacation time, that pleasant annual interlude, will be given the wholehearted salute of the contented personnel, under the direction of Percy Faith, Monday at 9 p. m. over WEAF. The orchestra will put the program on a festive footing by opening the broadcast with Brahms' "Hungarian Dance No. 6."

Champion Sammy Angott's 15-round battle with flashy Ray Robinson, rising young Negro lightweight, will be first fruit for boxing fans of the WJZ deal with Herman Taylor, noted Philadelphia promoter. The bout will be covered by the famous Adam hat twins, Sam Taub and Bill Stern, direct from Shibe Park's ringside. Monday, beginning at 9:30 p. m.

From Edvard Grieg's incidental music to the Bjornson play, "Sigurd Jorsalfar," the orchestra will play the spirited "March of Homage" during the "Voice of Firestone" broadcast, Monday at 7:30 p. m. over WEAF. The play, based on Sigurd the Crusader, who became Norway's king in 1103, was first presented in Leipzig in 1891, with Grieg conducting.

BRITISH FLIERS RUN AFOUL OF U. S. OFFICIALS

BANGOR, Me., July 21--(AP)--Three British fliers whose desire to get away from a Canadian training station and back to England to "do some fighting" led them into difficulties with U. S. immigration authorities here, were held under $500 bonds each today by U. S. Commissioner Ballard F. Keith after pleading guilty to a charge of illegal entry into the
