

Monte Wooley Schemed Swap Quips With M

"Man Who Came To Dinner" Expected
Wheel Chair After He And Get Together Sunday

Monte Wooley, whose art of annoying people is ideally illustrated in both stage and screen, in "Man Who Came to Dinner," may need that extra break more than just bread with Monte Carlo, famed also for tongue-lashing technique. 8:00 p. m. over WEA.

The dauntless courage and sterling fighting spirit of the Australians who stand ready to defy the Japanese invasion in their history, will be dramatized against a background of the famous Australian song, "Waltzing Mathilda," on the Sunday, "Family Hour" program starring Gladys Swarthout and Deems Taylor at 5 p. m. over WABC.

An all-request program, dedicated to a bed-ridden feminine admirer in Onondaga County hospital, Syracuse, N. Y., will be offered by Olivio Santoro, radio's boy yodeler, during his broadcast Sunday at 5:15 p. m. over WJZ.

Boris Karloff, sepulchral-voiced master of the macabre, delves into the forbidding regions of black magic and witchcraft on his second guest appearance of his current "inner Sanctum Mystery" series, Sunday at 8:30 p. m. over WJZ.

Robin Hood and the Scarlet Pimpernel will live again as their modern counterpart, John Freedom, joins WJZ, Sunday, in a timely crusade to aid the victims of oppression and tyranny.

The new series, "Alias John Freedom," will be heard each Sunday in dramatic form, from 7:30 to 8 p. m., and will have as its central figure an anonymous character who works under cover to trick the Axis and its agents throughout the world by freeing individuals under the heel of the invading armies.

WJZ's "Behind The Mike" takes on a new title and expands its field starting Sunday. At 4:30 p. m. the popular program, under the title "Nothing But The Truth," will dig behind the scenes not only of radio, but the theatre, government activities or any other field in which intriguing stories can be
