ture of the Man with the Red Beard" by pure logic.

Will the United Nations remain as united in their peace aims as they are in war? Can the ties of their common cause remain undissolved as they seek to build a new world without war? Such questions will emerge when "United Nations" becomes the discussion topic on "For This We Fight" Saturday (WEAF, 7 p. m. EWT).

Leo Litwin, well-known pianist, will be the soloist during the Boston Pops orchestra broadcast over WJZ on Saturday, at 8:15 p. m., EWT. Arthur Fiedler conducts the orchestra.

Curly Williams and his Georgia Peach Pickers, comparative newcomers to the "Grand Ole Opry," make another guest appearance on that series, on Saturday, at 10:30 p. m., EWT, over Station WEAF.

Three men from the Frankford Arsenal in Philadelphia and three women, workers at the Philadelphia Navy Yard, comprise the opposing teams for the Frank Crum-It-Julia Sanderson quiz, when it airs on Saturday, at 8 p. m. EWT over Station WABC.

Duke Ellington will be guest conductor and featured pianist on "The Million Dollar Band" Saturday (WEAF, 10 p. m. EWT).

The Falcon, romantic sleuth of fiction, falls victim to the charms of a veiled woman and gets slugged for his weakness in "The Veiled Lady," suspenseful "Adventure of the Falcon" to be heard Saturday, at 7 p. m., EWT, over WJZ.

"Winter Fishing," a sanguinary yarn by Robert M. Coates, will be presented by Nelson Olmstead on his "World's Greatest Stories" program Saturday (WEAF, 11:15 p. m., EWT).

Sylvia Marlowe, noted young harpsichordist, will perform Haydn's Concerto in D Major as her contribution to the "Saturday Concert," to be heard on WJZ Saturday at 4 p. m., EWT. A special cadenza written by Wanda Landowska, regarded as the world's foremost harpsichordist, is included in the concerto.
