

Garson And Pidgeon To Present "Mrs. Miniver"

A pre-Christmas treat of top entertainment is Cecil B. DeMille's present to tired Yuletide shoppers on Monday when Greer Garson and Walter Pidgeon present their touching motion picture success, "Mrs. Miniver." Radio's only full-hour dramatic program is heard over WABC at 8 p. m. EST.

The medical officer—"Doc" or "Surge" to the men on fighting ships—will be honored in a dramatization titled "Navy Doctor" on "Cavalcade of America," Monday at 7 p. m., EST., WEAZ.

Brian Donlevy, soon to be seen in the motion picture, "The Miracle of Morgan's Creek," will be starred as Dr. Charles F. Flower, who came out of the University of California Medical School 17 years ago and immediately hung his shingle on a battleship.

Blondie and Dagwood get tangled up with a gang of other people who forgot to shop early, as "Blondie Shops for Christmas," on Monday at 6:30 p. m., over WABC. The various relatives of the Bumsteads are in for a busy time exchanging gifts the week after the holiday, judging by the purchases made by Dagwood and Blondie. Penny Singleton and Arthur Lake star.

Josephine Antoine, lovely blonde soprano of the Metropolitan opera, will sing a popular duet with the tenor of the "Contented Hour" program, on Monday when the two singers present "Someday" from the tuneful "The Vagabond King," one of Rudolf Friml's greatest operettas.
