

War News Figures Join "Information Please" Monday

Two outstanding figures in the war news will join the regular experts on "Information Please, Monday over WEA, 8:30 p. m., EST.

Henry J. Kaiser, noted industrialist and ship-builder, and Quentin Reynolds, foreign correspondent and radio commentator, will match wits with John Kieran and Franklin P. Adams. Clifton Fadiman as usual will be master of ceremonies. Reynolds has been a guest previously on "Information Please."

Another entertainment highlight in "Cavalcade of America's new fall series with great stars in great radio plays comes to radio Monday over WEA at 7 p. m., EST, when Walter Pidgeon stars in Robert Tallman's "Lifetide," story of Dr. Norman Bethune. Pidgeon will portray the Canadian Surgeon whose perfection of the technique of refrigerating blood plasma on the battlefronts has been instrumental in saving the lives of civilians and service men all over the world. The absorbing narrative will have original background music written and conducted by Robert Armbruster. Another noted Hollywood star, Walter Huston, serves as regular host.

"David Harding—Counterspy" once again outwits the secret agents of the Nazis in "The Case of the Kidnaped War Worker," broadcast Monday, at 8 p. m., EST, over WJZ.

A subtle Nazi plot to discredit our war-workers and cause them to leave war plants in search of civilian employment is the theme of the show. How "David Harding—Counterspy" manages to round up the Nazi gang, defeating its purpose with the aid of an heroic war worker, provides a thrilling half-hour.
