

Orson Welles Is Guest Ghoul On 'Inner Sanctum' Tuesday

Stage, screen and radio star, Orson Welles, appearing as guest ghoul behind the creaking door, demonstrates his talent for making headlines when, in the role of a newspaper rewrite man, he tracks down a homicidal maniac in "The Lonely Hearts Killer," a blood drenched "Inner Sanctum" mystery, to be broadcast at 9 p. m. Tuesday over CBS.

Twenty-three derelicts go to their unmarked graves because a "kindly" killer overflows with compassion for their lonely existences. The murder's Nemesis, however, is a middle-aged rewrite man who almost takes the rap himself in his zeal to earn a few by-lines.

"A Date with Judy" develops unusual complications when "Judy Entertains a Horse," in the comedy-drama over NBC at 8:30 p. m. Tuesday. Judy's father invests in a race horse named Mary Lee and problems arise when a glamor girl of the same name enters the scene.

The Kingfish goes to work in a travel agency and argues Andy into taking an April vacation on the "Amos 'n' Andy" show at 9 p. m. Tuesday over NBC.

"This Is My Best" offers a new excerpt from Isobel Scott Rorick's amusing novel, "Mr. and Mrs. Cugat," when it presents "Outside Eden," a series of incidents from the book, in its broadcast at 9:30 p. m. Tuesday over CBS.

Robert Young and Louise Albritton, who were featured in the first episode aired in December, again will play the leading roles in this story which is the report of a "quiet" Saturday afternoon in the Cugat home, which turns into a nightmare of lumber, peanuts, champagne and elephants, leaving the entire town in an uproar by nightfall.
