

Housing Situation Discussed By Authorities on Thursday

Four qualified authorities, representing every important phase of the current housing program, will participate in a panel discussion on the subject, "What's Wrong with Home Building," to be heard at 9:30 p. m. Thursday over MBS.

Government, industry, labor and finance will have spokesmen on hand for this discourse on the status of the housing program.

Bringing their season to a close for the summer, Bud Abbott and Lou Costello mix their vacation plans in the broadcast over NBC at 9 p. m. Thursday.

An insane murderer among the passengers of a cross-country bus supplies the plot theme for Elliott Reed's starring appearance on "Suspense" when he plays the leading role in this chiller, "The Return Trip" at 7 p. m. Thursday over CBS.

The story is told by a bus driver, from a hospital bed, who describes what happens when occupants of the bus learn that an insane murderer, escaped from an asylum, is among them. Attempts to discover which passenger is the killer lead to a surprise finish.

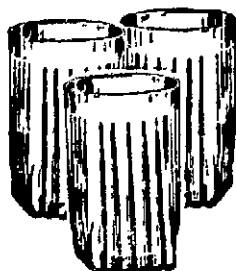

With the dogged determination of one who will recreate the rollicking spirit of the gay 90's, or burst a vocal chord, Beatrice Kay lends her charming talents to typically exuberant interpretations of "I Don't Care," "Kiss of Romance" and "Take Me out to the Ball Game" on the "Beatrice Kay Show" at 9 p. m. Thursday over MBS.

A comedy about a wife who changes from a lovable bundle of inefficiencies into a systematic and clever secretary while her husband is overseas—much to the dismay of said hubby—will be heard when "The Carrington Playhouse" presents "Not a Match in the House" at 7 p. m. Thursday over MBS.

Scoter ducks live on a diet of shellfish. They swallow oysters whole and have no difficulty digesting the hard calcareous shell.
